Middlebury hopes soon to have a district nurse and steps have been taken toward that end.

The so-called Hooker house in Brattleboro is to be torn down to make room for a large garage, which John B. Manley is to erect on the lot.

Frank Pease's sugar house, with evaporator and a quantity of syrup, were burned in Jericho while Mr. Pease was at dinner one day last week.

Peter A. Fagan of Rutland fell through a roof at the plant of the Green Mountain Marble company Saturday, while shoveling snow, and broke his leg.

There is a prospect that teachers will be fewer than ever the coming year, Commissioner of Education Hillegas giving as the main reason for this that so many women teachers are leaving to be married, or, having been married previously, are now leaving after supplying during the war.

Rev. Peter J. H. Myers, 98, Middlebury the home of his niece in Madison, Wis. Mr. Myers was born in Frankfort, N. Y., July 22, 1821. He prepared for college at Champlain, N. Y., academy, and entered Middlebury college in 1844, graduating in 1847. For many years he held pastorates in New York towns, the last being Chazy, where he was located for 20 years. Since 1907 he had resided with his niece in Madison.

Among the relics which Capt. Jacob Ross of Rutland brought home from the war zone is a complete outfit of surgical instruments, which Capt. Ross seized from the barracks at Metz. The Americans came upon the Germans so unexpectedly that the latter left everything behind them and fled. The surgical instruments were all new, of a fine quality of manufacture and from the printing on the case evidently belonged to a captain in the German army.

A dinner party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Benson in Brattleboro Friday evening in honor of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Benson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Webster C. Mitchell. They were married in West Woodstock. Mr. Mitchell for 20 years was in the woolen business, then about 1890 purchased a share in the overall business of George Hidden, later known as the Hooker & Corser plant. In 1910 retired from active business. Mrs. Mitchell is a member of the Brattleboro chapter, Daughters of the American Rev-

Farmers in that section of the state had been sending milk to the Alden brothers of Boston which firm announced they would take none after April 1.

In Stowe, especially, the sufferings of birds were noticed at the time of the recent snowstorm and it is thought many of them perished. Many of them gathered about barns and were fed and sheltered. Mrs. A. A. Royce counted hundreds of birds about her doorstep and fed them bread in large amounts. The birds included robins, red-winged blackbirds, juncoes and one prairie horned lark. Some of them stayed in parns overnight. C. P. Brown, in tme neighborhood, counted 210 birds in is barn Saturday morning. They seemed ewildered and unable to look out for remselves. On his mail route Friday, ton B. Forbes noted that the birds ere so bewildered that they lighted on his buggy wheels. No chickadees and other winter birds were seen.

There's only one corn remedy in the world Musterole Works Easier, Quicker and Without the Blister

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, com-bined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of out-ofdate mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or oints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

A Spreader in 1914 cost 108.2 bm. of wheat
A Spreader in 1919 costs 90 bm. of wheat
A Spreader in 1919 costs 90 bm. of wheat
Now use that pencil we spoke about, and you can figure the cost of any Farm Tool in bushels or pounds of anything you raise, and then compare it with previous years. Do you want to go back to prices as they were a few years age and get the same prices you used to get for your produce? When you get this studied out a bit, do a little substitution and put your isackbone where your wishbone is, and you will be using better tools this apring, paying less money for farm help, raising more of your own grain, and binning more long greens to your red flannel.
